WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Must Stand Trial for Complicity in the Death of Her Husband.

Kansas City, June 6.—The trial of Mrs. Aggie Myers, charged with complicity in the murder of her husband, Clarence Myers, a pressman, at their home in this city in May, 1904, was called today at Liberty, Mo., having been taken to Clay county on a charge of venue. Frank Holtman, who it is charged, was Mrs. Myers' confederate in the murder, who was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged for the crime, was a witness for the state against Mrs. Myers.

Mrs. Myers will be a witness in her own defense. The defense will try to prove that there was no motive for killing her husband. The state will try to prove that Holtman and Mrs. Myers were infatuated with each other and that they killed Myers in order that they might marry.

Mrs. Myers still adheres to her original story that her husband was killed by negro burglars.

The murder was most atrocious, Myers' body being hacked in a horrible manner.

Holtman was arrested at Butte, Mont., where he had fled.

PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Among Them Was "Jimmy" Burns, the Noted Money Order Forger.

Wilmington, N. C., June 6.—"Jimmy" Burns, the alleged negro postoffice money order forger, who is charged with operating extensively in this state, Georgia and Tennessee, and who was brought here recently from Savannah, Ga., to be tried in the federal court, was one of the 12 prisoners who escaped from the county jail early today.

The prisoners were confined in a cell and during the night one of them feigned illness, calling up the jailer, who opened the cell door to hand the sick man some medicine. The prisoners, all negroes, overpowered the jailer and ran through the residential portion of the building and into the street.

Morocco's Action Displeases France.

Paris, June 6.—Strong tension is developing in the cabinet as the result of the defection of the sultan of Morocco from the French Reform proposals. The situation is similar to that when Foreign Minister Delcasse suddenly presented his resignation. He has not given any indication of his purposes, but reports circulated in well-informed quarters that he may, if his Moroccan policy does not secure the united support of the ministers. It is expected that the sultan's action in proposing to refer the question to an international conference will be submitted to the council of ministers tomorrow. The question of its acceptance or rejection is likely to involve an acute situation.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence county, N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Will Cure Consumption.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." You never heard of anyone using Foley's Honey and Tar and not being satisfied. J. W. McCollum & Co.

ON THE OCEAN'S FLOOR.

How It Feels to Go Down Into the Sea in a Diving Bell.

How it feels to go down into the sea in a diving bell is described as follows by one who made the descent: "Putting on a pair of stockings, leggings and heavy boots, I jumped on to the seat when the huge bell—it weighed forty tons and was as large as a good sized room—was swung by the powerful crane over the staging, and gradually we were lowered into the sea. The sensation at first was very strange. As we entered the water, which was driven out of the bell by compressed air, there was a distinct buzzing sound in the ears and head. I was told to hold my nose and blow through it, and I did so. Slowly we descended and at last reached the bottom, some fifty feet below the surface. The bell in question was seventeen feet long and ten feet wide. There were six of us in it. It was lighted by electricity and was almost as bright as day. We first landed on a bed which the divers had previously leveled. The moment the bell touched the ground there was perhaps about two feet of water in it. This was quickly driven out by the compressed air, when we walked on comparatively dry ground with the sea all around us.

"By sending signals up to the man in charge of the great crane to which the bell is attached the apparatus can be moved as its occupants wish. After inspecting the smooth bed on which the bottom blocks are laid we went out to sea and, landing on the bottom again, obtained some idea of the difficulties of digging a foundation on the floor of the ocean. It was ragged and rocky. Four men work in a bell under a pressure of twenty-seven pounds to the square inch for three hours at a time, digging up the ground until it is perfectly smooth and level. The material is thrown into a large wooden box swung in the center of the bell.

"Climbing to our seats again, the man gave the necessary signals, and away we went, all under water, of course, until we landed once more upon the stones just placed in position. The electric lights in the bell are placed close to the thick little glass windows. When we stayed on the bottom quietly for a little while the fish darted at the light, but at the noise of a shovel they quickly disappeared."

Ralph Waldo Emerson's Stove.

Ralph Waldo Emerson was a man of rare integrity and very particular about small things. One day a new cooking stove had been provided for his house, and, although the stove came very highly recommended, it proved thoroughly unsatisfactory and most provoking, as it did everything but what it was expected to do. After awhile the family was in despair, and some one suggested sending it to auction.

"What?" exclaimed Emerson. "Transfer our own perplexity to another pair of shoulders? No, never, unless the stove is labeled 'Imperfect.'"

And so "Imperfect" it was labeled and sold at a great discount.—Boston Herald.

The Oldest Book.

Max Muller said that the Brahmins in particular pride themselves on the age of their Vedas, which, according to some critics, date from 6000 B. C.; according to others, from 1200 or 1300 B. C. Even this more moderate date is far beyond that of the Old Testament or any other sacred book, so that to the Brahmins must be given the credit, if credit there be, of possessing the oldest, the most remote and consequently the most difficult of the sacred books of the world.
